Maddie Waldrop's passion for the game Army from her mother. Army Waldrop was raised in the Dallas suburb of Irving, virtually living in the shade of Texas Stadium,
home of the Cowboys.
But Army became a die-hard Philadelphia Eagles fan and her daughter has embraced that hatred Cowboys rival.

"She's been watching football on television since she was about two," Amy Waldrop said. "She would cheer for the Eagles."
Last Christmas Maddie received a complete set of uniform. A photograph of her in the uniform was posted to the team's Web site.

"She loves the Raiders, but she's still an Eagles fan," Amy Waldrop said.
"She has said wants to be the first woman to play for the Eagles."
"I wanted to play football because it is fun," Maddie Waldrop said. "I like the hitting."

Maddie suffered a bruise on her upper arm on the first day of practice.
"She was proud of it. She
